The CIA's 'Marble' Program Can Create Cyber Attacks To Look As Though They Are From Other Countries

written by GEG | April 2, 2017

WikiLeaks released more CIA documents from Vault 7 that describe a program called Marble, which is an Internet tool that makes it appear that cyber attacks it creates are coming from some other country. Test samples were found in English, Chinese, Russian, Korean, Arabic, and Farsi.