

Russia: Homemade Bomb Explodes In Subway; Kills 14, Injures 50. A Man Born In Kyrgyzstan Is The Key Suspect.

written by GEG | April 4, 2017

St. Petersburg, Russia: A homemade bomb killed at least 11 people on a subway train and left more than 50 injured. A second, larger explosive device disguised as a fire extinguisher was found at another subway station. A suspect who was filmed at the scene turned himself in to police, claiming he is innocent. A second man, also captured on CCTV, is suspected of being a suicide bomber with links to radical Islam.