

Sweden to Prosecute Woman for Reporting on Facebook that Migrants Torched Cars and Defecated in the Streets

Sweden: A 70-year-old woman reported on Facebook that migrants were burning cars and defecating in the streets. The government claims that this was a disparaging view of migrants and, therefore, it violated Sweden's law on incitement to racial hatred, a crime which carries a maximum penalty of four years in prison. The woman does not deny writing the post but challenges the law by denying that telling the truth is a criminal act. –GEG

A 70-year-old Swedish woman in Dalarna is being prosecuted for hate speech after claiming on Facebook she saw migrants defecating in the streets and setting fire to cars.

According to the prosecution, the woman “expressed a disparaging view of refugees” on Facebook. She stands accused of having taken to the social media website in early July 2015 to make the “derogatory” post, alleging that migrants “set fire to cars, and urinate and defecate on the streets”.

Prosecutors in Sweden say the woman's message violates the nation's law on incitement to racial hatred (Hets mot folkgrupp, or HMF), a crime with carries a maximum penalty of four years.

The accused admitted that she wrote the post but denied committing any criminal act. The evidence against her consists of a screenshot from Facebook, according to local media.

People took to Flashback, the net's largest Swedish language forum, to criticise the state's decision to prosecute the pensioner, with one poster lamenting the accused "has fallen into the clutches of the politically correct".

A user with the screen name 'Nospheratu' pointed out that the original idea behind HMF was "to prevent large-scale propaganda by political parties" against demographic groups, with lawmakers "having 1930s Germany in mind" whilst passing laws. The user slammed the law for being used to "prosecute old ladies on the bus" criticising immigrants.

Read full article here...

Hackers Use Ransomware, Created by the NSA , to

Infect Computers in Nearly 100 Countries

Hackers have been able to infect tens of thousands of computers in more than 100 countries using software developed by the NSA. The hack prevents computer systems from accessing their data bases by altering their encryption. Typical targets are companies, government agencies, banks, hospitals, and any other enterprise that cannot afford loss of access to its data. The ransom required to regain the data is 300 Bitcoin, but the price rises sharply if the price is not paid within a few hours. Most victims pay immediately but are vulnerable for similar attacks in the future. Wikileaks exposed this problem last month by publishing the software manuals to prove that the threat is real. It did not publish the software itself, however, because that would allow even more criminals to participate. This reporter anticipates that the CIA and the press will attempt to blame Wikileaks and Trump supporters for the problem. –GEG

Bill Binney, the highest-ranking NSA whistleblower, says the US intelligence community discovers or creates cyberspace weaknesses and then leaves them open instead of fixing them. Then, when there is a cyberattack, they say they need more money for cyber security and to stop terrorists. Finally, they blame the attack on the Russians so they can get more tax money to 'defend the nation' in a new cold war. –GEG

What should we make of the global ransomware attacks which happened today?

We've documented that the intelligence services intentionally create digital vulnerabilities, then intentionally leave them open ... leaving us exposed and insecure.

Washington's Blog asked the highest level NSA whistleblower ever* – Bill Binney – what he thinks of the attacks.

Binney told us:

This is what I called short sighted finite thinking on the part of the Intelligence Community managers.

This is also what I called (for some years now) a swindle of the tax payers. First, they find or create weaknesses then they don't fix these weaknesses so we are all vulnerable to attack.

Then, when attacks occur, they say they need more money for cyber security – a total swindle!!! [Indeed.]

This is only the second swindle of the public. The first was terror efforts by saying we need to collect everything to stop terror – another lie. They said that because to collect everything takes lots and lots of money.

Then, when the terror attack occurs, they say they need more money, people and data to stop terror. Another swindle from the start. The war on terror is a “self-licking ice cream cone”, because it [creates many more terrorists than it stops.]

And, finally, the latest swindle “THE RUSSIANS DID IT.” This is an effort to start a new cold war which means another bigger swindle of US tax payers.

For cyber security, I would suggest the president order NSA, CIA and any others to fix the cyber problems they know about; then, maybe we will start to have some cyber security.

Read full article here...

---

Tim Allen's TV Sitcom Cancelled After He Said Being a Conservative in Hollywood Was Like Living in Nazi Germany

Tim Allen starred as a positive conservative character in the ABC sitcom, Last Man Standing, which was cancelled despite high ratings. The cancellation comes two months after he made a comment on a talk show comparing living as a conservative in Hollywood to Nazi Germany. Allen also called out Hollywood for 'bullying' Trump. Many people are now boycotting the channel.
-GEG

ABC's decision to cancel Tim Allen's sitcom "Last Man Standing" as it closes its sixth season resulted in the network being accused of playing politics.

ABC's decision to cancel Tim Allen's sitcom "Last Man Standing" as it closes its sixth season resulted in the network being accused of playing politics.

Only "Modern Family" beat "Last Man Standing" in the ratings for ABC programming.

Allen, whose previous ABC hit "Home Improvement" ran from 1991-1999, has been vocal in his criticism of Hollywood's leftist culture and said he attended President Trump's inauguration.

According to Heat Street, many viewers believe Allen's refusal to remain silent about politics in heavily Democratic Hollywood led ABC to cancel "Last Man Standing" despite drawing 8.1 million viewers this season.

Allen supported Gov. John Kasich in the presidential primaries, and said being a conservative in Hollywood was akin to being part of the opposition in Nazi Germany.

He also called out Hollywood for "bullying" Trump while criticizing him for being a bully at the same time.

On the show, Allen played Mike Baxter, a conservative father who worked at an outdoors emporium as the lead of marketing.

Critics of the decision also pointed out that ABC's parent, the Walt Disney Company, is headed by Bob Iger, who is reportedly mulling a 2020 run against Trump as a Democrat.

Read full article here...

---

Black Student Group at UC Santa Cruz Threatens Takeover

The African/ Black Student Alliance (A/BSA) physically

occupied a building on the UC Santa Cruz campus and was granted all of its demands, which includes mandatory 'diversity training' for all incoming students. Now they are threatening more civil disruption if their new demands are not met. The members of this group demand reparations for past racial crimes against them. Their new demands include that the university purchase property for 'disadvantaged' students, a $100,000 grant to promote cultural diversity, and the creation of a Black Studies department at the school. -GEG

A radical black student group known as The African/Black Student Alliance (A/BSA), which recently ended its occupation of a building on the UC Santa Cruz campus after university officials granted them every one of their demands, is threatening more civil disruption if its new demands are not met.

The College Fix, an online student-reported news source, is reporting that in spite of meeting its original demands, "the group made three other demands to the university, and it has warned UC Santa Cruz that it has four months to comply with these demands or 'more Reclamations; will result."

The three additional demands A/BSA is making of UC Santa Cruz have been added to its initial "Reclamation Statement," and include:

- That the university purchase property "to serve as a low income housing cooperative for historically disadvantaged students,"
- That the university "allocate $100,000" for Santa Cruz's "SOMeCA" student organization support department,
- That the university create either a Black Studies department or a Black Studies Minor or Major.

A reported by College Fix, this new list of demands contains a deadline and a threat at the end: "... that if by Fall Quarter 2017 the university does not provide 'detailed plans' on how to fulfill its new demands, 'there will be more Reclamations.'”

Read full article here..

---

Mike Adams Reports the Boston Herald to the FBI for Recommending That Those who Oppose Vaccines Should Be Executed by Hanging

Mike Adams, the owner of the Natural News website, is filing a complaint with the Boston FBI against the Boston Herald for publishing a violence-inciting editorial attributed to the Boston Herald. The editorial claims that vaccines don't cause autism and that it ought to be a “hanging offense” for anyone who opposes this conventional theory, which they characterized as lying. Mike Adams alleges that the Boston Herald staff engaged in criminal intimidation by calling for deadly violence against vaccine critics, including naturopaths, scientists, chiropractors and journalists.

Mike Adams, the owner of the Natural News website, is filing a complaint with the Boston FBI against the Boston Herald for publishing a violence-inciting editorial attributed to the Boston Herald. The editorial claims that vaccines don't cause autism and that it ought to be a "hanging offense" for anyone who opposes this conventional theory, which they characterized as lying. Mike Adams alleges that the Boston Herald staff engaged in criminal intimidation by calling for deadly violence against vaccine critics, including naturopaths, scientists, chiropractors and journalists.

The editorial was in reaction to the recent outbreak of 51 cases of measles in Minnesota, primarily among the Somali immigrant population. The Somali population in Minnesota has about half the vaccination rate of the general population. This is because they have backed away from inoculating their children due to previous high autism rates, triple the number of the general population, discovered in 2008. The CDC currently reports the autism rate at 1 in 68 children. The mainstream media has failed to inform the public that the autism rate for Somali children living in Minnesota was 1 in 32 in 2010, with more severe disabilities reported than in other populations. Some Somali parents credit their freedom from autism to the fact that they grew up in Somalia without vaccines.

Anti-vaccine groups are being blamed for the measles outbreak, because Dr. Andrew Wakefield and anti-vaccine groups informed the Somali community about the dangers of vaccines and their legal rights regarding vaccine exemptions.

Investigative reporter, Jefferey Jackson, has traced the authorship of the "hit piece" back to Rachelle Cohen and gives her contact information, as well as the Boston Herald's contact information in this link.

Here is what Cohen wrote in the Boston Herald:

"...Skepticism about vaccines within Minnesota's Somali community goes back a decade, the Post reported, after parents raised concern about possible higher rates of autism among their children (research later indicated that wasn't the case).

“But it seems that was all the truthers needed to hear. When Somali parents sought answers to explain autism, anti-vaccine activists were delighted to fill in the information gap. The disgraced British doctor who once reported a link between vaccines and autism – which was deemed fraudulent and cost him his medical license – has met with families, the Post reported. Even amid this latest outbreak, anti-vaccine groups have fanned the flames, making it hard for public health officials and doctors to be heard above the noise.

“These are the facts: Vaccines don't cause autism. Measles can kill. And lying to vulnerable people about the health and safety of their children ought to be a hanging offense.”

Contrary to what Cohen wrote, it is important to point out that measles outbreaks in the US are not serious or deadly, according to the CDC:

- From January 1 to April 22, 2017, 61 people from 10 states (California, Florida, Michigan, Minnesota, Nebraska, New Jersey, New York, Pennsylvania, Utah, and Washington) were reported to have measles.
- In 2016, 70 people from 16 states were reported to have measles.
- In 2015, 188 people from 24 states and the District of Columbia were reported to have measles.
- In 2014, the United States experienced a record number of measles cases, with 667 cases from 27 states reported to CDC's National Center for Immunization and Respiratory Diseases (NCIRD); this is the greatest number of cases since measles elimination was documented in the U.S. in 2000.

Measles are temporary, but autism is forever.

Sources:

Mike Adams gives contact information for the FBI, Boston Police and the Boston Herald to take action in his article:
<http://www.naturalnews.com/2017-05-11-boston-herald-calls-for-government-run-execution-squads-mass-murder-scientists-journalists.html>

Link to the Boston Herald opinion, 'Editorial: Preying on parents' fear':

http://www.bostonherald.com/opinion/editorials/2017/05/editorial\_preying\_on\_parents\_fear

<http://www.healthnutnews.com/boston-herald-staffer-suggests-people-should-be-hung-to-death-for-being-anti-vaccine/>

<https://www.cdc.gov/media/releases/2016/p0331-children-autism.html>

http://www.huffingtonpost.com/entry/minnesota-measles-outbreak\_us\_591224dfe4b05e1ca202a154

Sent from ProtonMail, encrypted email based in Switzerland.