

North Korea Fired Its Ninth Missile This Year, Showing Contempt for the US and China

President Trump chastised North Korea after the country showed “major disrespect” toward China when it launched its ninth ballistic missile this year. It flew about 280 miles and landed in the Sea of Japan. -GEG

On Twitter Monday, Trump said: “North Korea has shown great disrespect for their neighbor, China, by shooting off yet another ballistic missile...but China is trying hard!”

South Korea said the launch was “a severe threat to the peace and stability of not only the Korean Peninsula, but also the international community.”

“Since our new government took office, North Korea has been frequently and repeatedly conducting provocation in such manner,” South Korea’s Ministry of Foreign Affairs said a statement. “This is in direct opposition to our demands in regards to the denuclearization and peace of the Korean Peninsula.”

Japanese Prime Minister Shinzo Abe “the issue of North Korea is a top priority for the international community.”

Evergreen State College Student Protesters Furious over New Video of Their Antics Made Public

Olympia, Washington: Student protesters at Evergreen State College are furious that a video showing their behavior was made public. Last week they tried to force the resignation of a biology professor by intimidating him, and now they hold the president of the school, George Bridges, hostage during insult-peppered rants. [This is a classic case of mob-emotion spreading among, not ignorant masses, but among ignorant college students – the future leaders of America. Still want to send you child to college?] -GEG

Students at Evergreen State College are furious that a video documenting their anarchic behavior has been made public, The College Fix reports.

The footage shows students going berserk, swearing like your mother never heard and screaming about “racist white teachers,” “white-assed administrators,” and the obligatory “black power” slogans during what was supposed to be a “meeting” between the malcontent students, college president George Bridges and other college administrators.

Activists are not pleased that the embarrassing video can now be seen by the world on the internet, and they they are demanding that the “stolen” document be “taken down” by this Friday.

“We demand that the video created for Day of Absence and Day of Presence that was stolen by white supremacists and edited to expose and ridicule the students and staff be taken down by the administration by this Friday.”

The students then outline just how they expect the university to proceed to find the guilty culprits. Claiming to have been in touch with “the Attorney General’s office,” the students suggest that the university “commit to launching an extensive forensic investigation” to discover just who “stole” the video, and, if a suspect is found, to ask that criminal charges be brought against the suspect “in consultation with the Attorney General.”

The video contains many memorable moments of the students’ interacting with their school administrators. They shout “fuck you, and fuck the police” repeatedly while maintaining that “whiteness is the most violent fuckin’ system to ever breathe!” Attempting a philosophical bridge, the students say they are “tired of white people talking about what black and brown people need” before getting to their real point: “Fuck you George [Bridges]; we don’t wanna listen to a goddamn thing you have to say! No, you shut the fuck up.”

Zbigniew Brzezinski, the Architect of Al-Qaeda That Spawned ISIS, Is Dead

Zbigniew Brzezinski, the former National Security Advisor under President Carter, has died. He was a well know theorist behind the building of global government and was a major influence on US foreign policy. It was his idea to create al-Qaeda as a force to weaken Soviet influence in the Middle East, a force that eventually became ISIS. Alex Jones explains this strategy taken from Brzezinski's book, The Grand Chess Board. The plan was to train and fund violent elements within Islam so they will threaten the world with terrorism and conquest. Then, use the resulting chaos as an excuse to take control of countries while appearing to be saving them from Islam. Jones' summary of this strategy is accurate, but we do not agree with all aspects of this report. For example, we do not agree that President Trump has told the Saudis that the Grand Chessboard is over. We do not agree with him that globalism is dead. We agree with Jones when he says that Soros is not a leftist in spite of the fact that many of his minions are outright Communists, and we agree when Jones says that Soros' civilian armies are mimicking Hitler's Brown Shirts. The main point is that we do not think that making a right-vs.-left distinction means anything significant. That's because the wrong words are being used to describe these groups. Communists and Fascists are both collectivists and they adhere to the same ideology. They are merely the right and left wings of the same ugly bird called collectivism. For a deeper understanding of this issue, see my essay, [Collectivism. For a really deep dive, see The Chasm,] –GEG
