

Scuffle in the Texas State Capitol After Republican Calls ICE to Remove Hispanic Protesters

Texas: Hundreds of protesters opposing the new anti-sanctuary-city law temporarily shut down the session in the House. Matt Rinaldi, a Republican state representative, says that his Democratic colleagues threatened and assaulted him when he called ICE on the protesters, many of them boasting that they were in the country illegally. Rinaldi says Democrat Representative Poncho Nevarez threatened to kill him. Nevarez admitted pushing Rinaldi but denied that he assaulted him. Rinaldi says that Nevarez threatened to “get him” on the way to his car. Rinaldi responded that he would use a gun in self-defense. Most of the protestors are wearing the same style tee-shirts and are carrying professionally-made signs. As usual, the media makes ignores the fact that these protestors typically are organized, directed, bussed, fed, and funded by unseen revolutionary forces, not the common people. These are not grass roots movements. –GEG
