Austria: The mayor of Tulln informed the government that his town will no longer accept 'asylum seekers' after a 15-year old girl was brutally raped by two Somali men and another from Afghanistan. Authorities kept the town's population in the dark about the vicious attack for a month. –GEG

A town in Austria has refused to accept any more "refugees" after three migrants gang-raped a 15-year-old girl.

The young girl was making her way home on the evening of April 25th when she was grabbed and "brutally raped," according to reports. The suspects are two men from Somali and one Afghan.

The town's mayor responded to the incident by informing the government that Tulln would not be accepting any more refugees until further notice.

"For me, there is zero tolerance against asylum seekers who abuse their guest countries law. In view of what these criminals have done to the girl, the full severity of the law is required," said Peter Eisenschenk.

Freedom Party Councillor Christian Hafenecker questioned why authorities did not inform the public about the incident "for almost a month," putting people's safety at risk.

"Countless cases already show that the migration of predominantly Muslim men under the cover of the asylum becomes an uncontrollable danger. It is therefore not at all clear why the Tulln's population was not promptly warned by the police," he said.

This is by no means the first time that Austria has been subjected to the "cultural enrichment" that newly arrived migrants bring.

An Iraqi refugee who raped a 10-year-old boy at a swimming pool in Vienna later had his conviction overturned because judges found that he believed the child had consented.
