

Black Lives Matter Supporter Defends Segregation at All-Black Celebration

written by GEG | June 8, 2017

Tucker Carlson interviewed Lisa Durden, a Black Lives Matter supporter, and asked her this question: If BLM is opposed to racial segregation and exclusion on the basis of race, why was a BLM Memorial Day event in New York City limited to blacks only? Durden became hysterical in defense of the policy and revealed intense animosity toward white people. This video is included in our news, not because of its newsworthiness, but because it reveals the intense damage that can be inflicted on the mind by years of exposure to the Marxist narrative of exploiter vs. victim. —GEG
