

Canadian Professor Reveals the Danger of Google Censorship

Dr. Jordan Peterson was shut out of his Google accounts but then was restored after his Tweet about it went viral. It is suspected that he was censored because he spoke out against the Canadian law that prohibits the use of biologically accurate gender pronouns to describe transgenders, He also has spoken against the teaching of Marxism in schools. Peterson says he is worried that we are building an 'unconscious mind' into the internet that will automatically censor things before they can be written, and will block information about events before they happen. In this area, Google is more powerful than government. [They are both run by people of identical mindsets.] -GEG

President Trump Pardoned Controversial Arizona Sheriff Joe Arpaio

Arizona Sheriff, Joe Arpaio, was pardoned by President Trump on his conviction for criminal contempt after he defied a court order and refused to cease traffic stops of vehicles suspected of carrying illegal immigrants.

Arpaio became controversial for constructing outdoor tent cities for prisoners, reviving chain gangs, serving bad food, and making the inmates wear prison stripe clothes and pink underwear to humiliate them. The intent of all that was to discourage crime and to stop illegal immigrants from entering his county. He says he was prosecuted by Obama holdovers because he conducted an investigation into Obama's birth certificate and declared it a fake. Arpaio endorsed Trump before he was taken seriously as a candidate.

The big rumor – emphasis on the word “rumor” – ahead of President Donald Trump's trip to Phoenix for a campaign rally tonight is that he might issue a pardon for Joe Arpaio, the controversial former sheriff of Maricopa County.

“I am seriously considering a pardon for Sheriff Arpaio,” Trump told “Fox News Sunday” earlier this month. “He has done a lot in the fight against illegal immigration. He's a great American patriot, and I hate to see what has happened to him.” Trump later retweeted the article about his comments.

And/but: CNN reported Monday that the Department of Justice had not been consulted on the potential pardon.

The “will he/won't he” speculation will run all day – right up until Trump takes the stage in Phoenix around 10 p.m. eastern tonight. So, it's worth asking: How did we get here with Joe Arpaio?

Arpaio first came to national prominence in the early 1990s when, as newly elected sheriff of Maricopa County, he pushed the construction of Tent City – an open-air jail he viewed as not only a solution to prison overcrowding but also a way to burnish his tough-on-crime persona.

“We’re going to do it, and it’s time to get tough around here,” Arpaio said in 1993 when Tent City was unveiled, according to the Arizona Republic. “And to get tough, you have to have a place to put the bad guys.”

Arpaio also made prisoners wear pink underwear and pink handcuffs as a way of shaming them (and to stop them from stealing each others’ clothes). In the mid-1990s, he reinstated chain gangs – including for women and juveniles. He pushed for every mug shot to be posted online. He cut down prison meals to two a day – no lunch! – and banned the use of salt and pepper to save money.

Read full article here...

---

An Alliance to Overthrow Iran Has Emerged between Trump’s Son-in-Law, Israel’s Netanyahu and the Saudis

YOURCOMMENTSHERE

Jacob Rothschild Recently Cut His Holdings in US Investments

According to his bi-annual financial report, Jacob Rothschild is significantly reducing his holdings in US assets and the US dollar. He says that US stock prices have risen to unprecedented levels at a time when economic growth is by no means assured. He also believes that the Federal Reserve will end quantitative easing.

Jacob Rothschild has aggressively minimized his exposure to what he views as a risky U.S. capital market. Rothschild is the founder and chairman of Rit Capital Partners. In the half-year financial report for Rit Capital Partners, Rothschild explained the companies significant exposure reduction to U.S. assets.

Rothschild stated, “We do not believe this is an appropriate time to add to risk. Share prices have in many cases risen to unprecedented levels at a time when economic growth is by no means assured. ”

Rothschild also gave his opinion that he believes quantitative easing programs employed by central banks, such as the Federal Reserve Bank in the U.S. will no longer be implemented. Rothschild was quoted in the written report as saying, “The period of monetary accommodation may well be coming to an end.”

The British investment banking veteran has significantly reduced the amounts of investment Rit Capital Partners has in the U.S. dollar. On December 31, 2016, Rit Capital Partners reported a 62 percent net value asset investment in U.S. dollars. In the latest report released by Rit Capital Partners on June 30, 2017, the company has a 37 percent net value asset investment in U.S. dollars.

Read full article here..

---

Trump’s Economic Advisor Gary Cohn Described Antifa As Citizens Standing for Freedom

President Trump’s National Economic Council Director Gary Cohn said in a recent interview that members of Antifa are just concerned citizens ‘standing up for equality and freedom’. He criticized Trump for blaming both sides for violence in the streets and said the administration must do better to condemn pro-white groups. [Another leftist mole shows itself in the Trump administration. Makes you wonder why Trump appointed these people and, even more important, why he keeps them. Who is calling the shots in the White House?] –GEG

National Economic Council Director Gary Cohn claimed that militant “anti-fascists” (or “antifa”) are just concerned citizens “standing up for equality and freedom” in a Financial Times interview that ran Friday.

“Citizens standing up for equality and freedom can never be equated with white supremacists, neo-Nazis, and the KKK,” Cohn said of the recent violence at a white nationalist rally in Charlottesville. “I believe this administration can and must do better in consistently and unequivocally condemning these groups and do everything we can to heal the deep divisions that exist in our communities.”

Cohn’s comments were a clear shot at President Trump, who took heat in the media for acknowledging that “both sides” engaged in the violence in Charlottesville.

Cohn drew no distinctions between peaceful counter-protesters and militant groups whose stated political goals go well beyond inflicting violence upon white supremacists. (RELATED: In Their Own Words: The Radical Political Goals Of ‘Anti-Fascists’)

As The Daily Caller has reported, “anti-fascist” groups are open about the fact that they aren’t interested in protecting America’s system of government – they’re interested in destroying it.

Read full article here...