

Climatologist, Judith Curry, Says The Idea of Punishing 'Climate 'Deniers' Is Ludicrous

written by GEG | September 26, 2017

Judith Curry, a climatologist and the former chair of the School for Earth and Atmospheric Sciences at Georgia Tech, dismissed journalists' demand for climate skeptics to be punished, saying the idea is ludicrous. She says that global warming is not an existential problem, despite the claims of Al Gore and Leonardo DiCaprio. [She is the scientist who said the debate over global warming has entered the campfire phase, a contest to see who can tell the scariest story.] -GEG