

Kansas Sued over Law that Punishes Those Who Boycott Israel

The Kansas Department of Education banned a teacher from employment because she refused to sign a statement that she would not boycott Israel, which infringes on free speech and compels political speech.