

Illegals Filmed Jumping Over US-Mexican Border Fence While Reporting on Trump's Proposed Wall

San Diego: A reporter covering prototypes of Trump's proposed border wall unexpectedly caught a group of illegal border jumpers hopping over the existing fence. An MSNBC reporter recently received a real world lesson in why President Trump's promised border wall is crucially important to stop illegal immigration along the U.S.-Mexico border.

A reporter covering prototypes of Trump's proposed border wall taking shape near San Diego, when the interview was interrupted by a group of "migrants" hopping over the existing fence.

"What happened?" the reporter shouted as a group of agents on horseback move in to nab the border jumpers. "The people are crossing!"

"Almost on cue, a group of asylum-seekers, migrants not from Mexico, jumped over the existing fence to turn themselves in to border agents on horseback," the reporter narrated.

“It’s like, a small group of three people jumped over in the middle of the day,” he told a border patrol agent he was interviewing. “There’s a girl there in a pink backpack. Can you explain to me what’s going on?”

The agent said it’s just another day at work fighting the never-ending battle to secure the nation’s southern border.

“This is the reality of every day border enforcement. The United States is still the draw, the ultimate draw, for people that have dire situations where they’re at,” the agent said.

“We’re going to continue to witness this. It plays out on a regular basis for us,” he said.

“And it did here just now,” the reporter replied.

Virtually every day the U.S. Customs and Border Protection issues media advisories detailing the unsuccessful efforts of smugglers to ferry people, drugs, weapons, money and other items across the border. Many more are successful.

But data shows Trump’s comments about cracking down on illegal immigration is already having a big impact. He pointed out in an interview with the Associated Press this spring that apprehensions along the southern border, an often used measure of illegal immigration, is at the lowest levels in 17 years, a statement Politifact confirmed is accurate.

“Experts have told us that Trump’s rhetoric has played a role in deterring illegal immigration, perhaps more so than his newly issued policies, which may take longer to implement on the ground,” Politifact reports.

Construction crews are currently erecting eight roughly 30-foot-tall prototypes for the president’s border wall in a remote section of the border near San Diego, where at least a half dozen illegal immigrants have been arrested while attempting to cross amid the construction, according to

National Public Radio.

The prototypes currently include four made of solid concrete, four made of steel and concrete and one topped with spikes.

Las Vegas Security Guard Jesus Campos Drove to Mexico Days After Shooting

Tucker Carlson received a leaked document allegedly showing that security guard Jesus Campos, the only witness to the Las Vegas shooting, entered the US at the San Ysidro crossing in San Diego County seven days after the attack, indicating he had left the US shortly after the attack. He is said to have been shot in the leg and sustained a serious injury – yet he was able to drive, round-trip between Las Vegas and Tijuana? - GEG

Tucker Carlson dropped a bombshell report Wednesday night about the ‘hero’ security guard in the Las Vegas mass-shooting on October 1 that killed 58 people and wounded over 500 at the Route 91 Harvest Festival country music concert attended by 22,000 fans that night. Jesus Campos, according to a Customs and Border Patrol log leaked to Fox News, entered the United States at the San Ysidro crossing in San Diego County seven days after the attack. It was not readily known when Campos left the U.S. for Mexico following the shooting. Carlson said the union representing Campos said they were aware of the trip and that it was pre-planned. Carlson said Campos crossed the same border post in January driving his own vehicle.

Carlson was shocked that authorities allowed the only eyewitness to the Manadalay Bay massacre to leave the country while it was still thought that the shooter Stephen Paddock may have had an accomplice and why it took a leak of a government document for the public to find out.

Carlson also wondered how a man who was supposedly shot in the leg by an AR-15 could drive 700 miles just days later, among many questions Carlson has about Mandalay Bay and why it is keeping such a tight grip on Campos.

ISIS Soldiers from Europe Are Scamming Welfare to Fund Terrorism in the Middle East

A new Danish study shows that 20% of French Islamic State jihadi fighters have been collecting social benefits from France to help finance the terror group. A total of $583,200 over the past 5 years has gone directly from the French taxpayers to the terror group. ISIS members from Europe have developed several welfare scams to obtain money while they are fighting in the Middle East. Nearly every person who left Sweden to fight for terrorist groups in the Middle East received welfare. -GEG

Some 20 percent of French Islamic State fighters have been collecting social benefits from France to help finance the terror group, newspaper Le Figaro reported Thursday.

Jihadis have claimed unemployment benefits and family allowance for years while living in Syria. Over the past five years, some 500,000 euros ($583,200) have gone directly from the French taxpayers to the terror group, according to the report.

Investigators have uncovered a scam that involved 420 fraudulent withdrawals by jihadis in 2016 alone. At least 210 people received the money after family members withdrew cash at employment centers across the country.

“Armed with their cards and photos, the parents were able to access the funding from the Unemployment Agency or the Family Allowances and send it to combat zones, mostly via Turkey,” an investigator told Le Figaro.

Other European countries have uncovered similar problems.

Close to every person who left Sweden to fight for terror groups in the Middle East received welfare, according to a government report.

A study of 300 Swedish citizens who fought in Syria and Iraq between 2013 and 2016 shows jihadis are getting increasingly good at getting away with welfare fraud. The individuals often use a person in Sweden to handle paperwork and create the illusion that they’re still in the country.

“It’s not surprising, we’ve seen the same pattern in other countries,” Magnus Ranstorp, one of the authors behind the report, told state broadcaster SVT. “What’s most surprising is that close to everyone received it in some form. The oversight process needs to get better.”
