

California: Judge Rules Baker Is Not Required to Bake Lesbian Wedding Cake

written by GEG | February 9, 2018

Bakersfield, California: Judge David Lampe ruled against forcing Cathy Miller, owner of Tasteries Bakery, to bake a cake for a lesbian couple, because it would violate her First Amendment rights. However, he said that, if the couple wanted to buy an already-made cake, Miller would be required to sell it to them to comply with the state's anti-discrimination law.
