

L.A.: Hispanics Use Violence to Discourage Caucasians from Moving into Neighborhood

written by GEG | March 9, 2018

Here's a switch: Boyle Heights, a Hispanic section of East Los Angeles, is fighting against the influx of Caucasians. Defend Boyle Heights, an activist group made up of people of mostly Mexican descent, are angry at being 'displaced' by white "invaders" and want them expelled by any means necessary instead of welcoming 'diversity' and 'cultural enrichment.' -GEG