

Transgender Boy Wins Wrestling Championship in Girls Division

written by GEG | March 2, 2018

Texas: A transgender girl, who is transitioning to a boy, beat a normal girl in a girls' wrestling match. The transgender high-school student is taking steroids to change gender, which also increases muscle strength and gives a competitive edge. Mark Stein, interviewed by Tucker Carlson, provides a thought-provoking analysis of the not-so-obvious consequences of the transgender trend. -GEG
