

Planned Parenthood Caught Performing Abortions on 12-Year Old Girls and Neglecting to Report the Crimes

Planned Parenthood abortion clinics have been caught repeatedly performing abortions on abuse victims as young as 12 and 13 years old, failing to report suspected sexual abuse to authorities, and then sending victims back to their abusers. Planned Parenthood is required by federal law to report suspected cases of sexual assault and abuse to law enforcement, but they have a long history of ignoring this law.

A new study by Live Action reveals that Planned Parenthood was caught performing abortions for girls as young as 12-years-old and not reporting the sexual crime to authorities.

This is not the first time Planned Parenthood was accused of abusing children.

Life News reported;

The Planned Parenthood abortion chain has been caught repeatedly performing abortions on abuse victims as young as 12 and 13 years old, failing to report suspected sexual abuse to authorities, and sending victims back to their abusers. A new investigative report report chronicles these cases and reveals Planned Parenthood's decades-long pattern of helping child sex abusers cover up their crimes.

As LifeNews has documented multiple times, Planned Parenthood has a history of not reporting statutory rape or sexual abuse to authorities. The abortion corporation frequently covers up cases of rape with abortion and refuses to report rape cases to law enforcement.

Read full article here...

Missouri Governor Eric Greitens Resigns over Sex Scandal

Missouri Governor Eric Greitens, a former Navy SEAL officer and Rhodes Scholar, was seen as a rising Republican star until he was forced to admit to an extra-martial affair dating back to 2015. He was accused of taking a compromising photo of the woman and blackmailing her with it (the photo was never discovered). A second criminal investigation resulted in charges that he improperly used a charity mailing list for fundraising during his political campaign. Greitens says his prosecution is a politically motivated witch hunt. -GEG

Eric Greitens, Missouri's embattled Republican governor, announced he would resign Tuesday, yielding to the pressure of two months-long criminal prosecutions and the increasing threat of impeachment.

"It's clear for the forces that oppose us, there's no end in sight," Greitens said in a press conference. "I cannot allow those forces to continue to cause pain and difficulty to the people that I love."

Greitens denied all criminal wrongdoing, saying, "I am not perfect, but I have not broken any laws or offense worthy of this treatment."

The governor said he would "always be a fighter for the people of Missouri" and "may God continue to bless you and to bless the great state of Missouri."

Greitens, a former Navy SEAL officer and Rhodes Scholar, was seen as a rising Republican star until January when he was forced to admit to an extra-martial affair from 2015. His partner in that affair accused the governor of taking and threatening to expose compromising photos of their sexual escapades if she disclosed their relationship, leading to a felony invasion of privacy charge in February. The woman also accused Greitens of "coercing" sex from her on several occasions, but no prosecutor has sought sexual assault charges.

Determined to fight the charge, Greitens refused to step aside. Then a second criminal investigation resulted in felony charges, alleging the governor improperly used a charity mailing list for fundraising during his campaign.

While Greitens has not yet been convicted of any crime, the political winds in Missouri, where Republicans are waging a critical U.S. Senate race against vulnerable Democrat Sen.

Claire McCaskill, have turned decisively against him. The Republican-controlled Missouri legislature voted to convene a special session to consider impeachment and the front-runner to take on McCaskill, Missouri Attorney General Josh Hawley called for Grietens to step down.

Read full article here...

Soros: EU Should Keep Borders Open and Pay Africa $35 Billion Per Year to Solve Refugee Crisis

Left-wing billionaire George Soros' speech 'How to Save Europe' advocated for the European Union to deal with the continent's refugee crisis by maintaining an open borders policy and spend more than $35 billion per year indefinitely to help Africa. He says that the EU has an excellent credit rating and can borrow the money. [This would throw Europe into debt, making it ripe for harvest].

Left-wing billionaire George Soros wants the European Union to deal with the continent's refugee crisis by maintaining an open borders policy and running up the EU's credit.

The EU should take on debt in order to help improve economics conditions in Africa, as part of its response to the ongoing refugee crisis, Soros argued in a speech at the European Council on Foreign Relations's annual meeting on Tuesday.

Soros pitched the idea of "an EU-led 'Marshall Plan for Africa'" that "would require at least €30 billion ($35.4 billion) annually for a number of years" to help deal with the refugee crisis. Due to a "woeful shortage of financial resources," Soros said, "EU member states could contribute only a small fraction of this amount. So, where could the money come from?"

"It is important to recognize that the refugee crisis is a European problem requiring a European solution. The EU has a high credit rating, and its borrowing capacity is largely unused," he explained. "When should that capacity be put to use if not in an existential crisis?"

Read full article here...