

Austria: Police and Army to Stage War Games at Border to Deter Horde of 80,000 Migrants

written by GEG | June 13, 2018

Police in the Balkans warned against an upswing in migrants, with an estimated 80,000 asylum seekers currently making their way through the region towards Western Europe. Austria's right wing government will stage border defense war games. Interior Minister Herbert Kickl said the drill will show that his country is serious about stopping illegal immigration and that there will be no "waving people through and registering them" as their predecessors did, which encouraged and increased mass immigration.

written by GEG | June 13, 2018

Former NBA player, Dennis Rodman, became friends with Kim Jong Un five years ago while visiting North Korea. Rodman has been discussing peace with him ever since then and attempted to interest Obama in following that unofficial path, but was repeatedly brushed off. Rodman says he received death threats and had to hide out because he tried to broker peace between the two countries.

Trump Press Conference Reveals Intentions for Peace after Summit with Kim

written by GEG | June 13, 2018

President Trump gave a press conference to announce a signed agreement with Kim Jong Un that requires the complete denuclearization of North Korea, with sanctions remaining in place until Kim meets his commitment. Trump said also that U.S. war games will end and that his ultimate goal is to bring the 32,000 troops stationed in the area back home. [The agreement that was revealed to the public is a statement of intent. Details now must be worked out. We may be sure that those details will involve US funding.]
