New Animal Study Shows Link Between Vaccine Ingredient and Autistic Social Behavior

written by GEG | June 20, 2018

A new study from Canada shows that exposure to aluminum, a common vaccine additive used to enhance the immune response, is linked with autism-like anti-social behavior in young mice. Aluminum that is injected is absorbed almost 100% and it circulates throughout the body and accumulates in the brain, organs and joints – where it can remain for years, causing many health problems.

Antifa 'Berkeley 5' Found Not Guilty of 5-on-1 Gang Beatdown of Trump Supporter

written by GEG | June 20, 2018

All five Berkeley Antifa members were found 'not guilty' of misdemeanor assault, despite testimony from a police sergeant and firemen who saw the attack. Judge Alison Tucher allowed dozens of Antifa supporters who filled the audience to remain in the courtroom despite outbursts, hissing, and booing. The judge did not follow legal procedures and allowed intimidation in the courtroom.
