

Sweden: An Activist Stopped a Plane from Take-Off in Order to Save an Afghan Migrant from Deportation. That Migrant Is Now in Jail.

Student Elin Ersson boarded a plane at Gothenburg airport and refused to take her seat in order to prevent the scheduled deportation of an Afghan man who was on the flight. The Swedish media is now reporting that the 52-year old Afghan man who Ersson temporarily delayed from being deported was convicted of criminal assault "abuse" and was sentenced to two years in prison before he will be expelled from the country. She excused her actions by saying that she had no information about the man or why he was being deported.
