Habersham County's Mud Creek precinct in northeastern Georgia had 276 registered voters ahead of the state's primary elections in May. But 670 ballots were cast, according to the Georgia secretary of state's office, indicating a 243% turnout. Georgia is one of four states that uses voting machines statewide that produce no paper record for voters to verify, making them difficult to audit, experts say. There is a dire need to reform the voting system.

Facebook Censors Congressional Candidate's Video about Communist Crimes

Facebook banned California Republican congressional Candidate Elizabeth Heng's campaign video ad about communist crimes that led her parents to flee mass murder by communists in Cambodia in the 1970's. Facebook says it does not allow "shocking, disrespectful, or sensational" content. [Does anyone actually believe that? Can you imagine Facebook banning a leftist campaign video that showed Nazi crimes against communists in Europe? Neither can we.] See the banned video here. -GEG

Facebook has banned Republican congressional candidate Elizabeth Heng's campaign video ad about communist crimes that led her family to flee Cambodia for the U.S., claiming the platform doesn't allow "shocking, disrespectful, or sensational" content.

Elizabeth Heng, who is running for California's 16th congressional district seat, made the video about her parent's escape from mass-murder by the Khmer Rouge communists in the 1970s.

However, according to the Christian Post, Facebook deemed the video to be "shocking, disrespectful or sensational," and refused to allow her to run the video as an ad on the platform.

"It is unbelievable that Facebook could have such blatant disregard for the history that so many people, including my own parents, have lived through,” declared Heng in a statement. “I’m sure it is shocking for some people to hear about this kind of injustice, but this is reality. This is why I wake up every single day with the fight and determination to have a voice and make a difference in my community.”

“Neither Facebook nor any other company in the tech industry get to silence our stories,” she continued. “We’ve seen it over and over again with Republican candidates and organizations.”

As reported by the Christian Post, “The Cambodian Civil War, which ended in 1975, killed an estimated 275,000–310,000 people and displaced two million others from rural areas.”

Alex Jones and Infowars Are Purged from YouTube, Facebook, Apple, and Spotify

On Monday, Google/YouTube, Facebook, Spotify, and Apple announced that they had deleted all Infowars content from their platforms. Four Facebook pages that were controlled by Jones were removed, and Apple removed five out of six of Jones' podcast streams. CNN has lobbied Facebook and YouTube to shut down Jones' accounts. Congressman Ted Deutch (D-FL) pressured YouTube to remove Jones from their platform. Congressman Mike Quigley also urged Twitter to censor Paul Joseph Watson, one of the lead commentators at Infowars.

All of these companies ostensibly are private companies and, as such, they did not violate the First Amendment that guarantees that government shall not deny free speech. Yet, they have a monopoly on speech in the public square and may be subject to regulation as a monopoly. The problem, however, is that their censorship policies are closely aligned with the mindset of government agencies, so they effectively are one-and-the-same. -GEG

Update: MailChimp, LinkedIn, Pinterest, iTunes and Stitcher have also banned Infowars. Alex Jones is still on Twitter and Instagram. Instagram has banned UK activist Tommy Robinson.

Hours after Alex Jones and Infowars were banned from iTunes and Facebook, The Alex Jones Channel on YouTube which had 2.4 million followers was terminated on Monday "for violating YouTube's Community Guidelines," along with the Ron Gibson channel which archived Jones' daily shows.

Earlier Monday we reported that Apple had completely removed five of Infowars' six podcasts from its iTunes and Podcast apps under their hate speech guidelines, reports BuzzFeed News – including the daily Alex Jones podcast and the show "War Room" – in "one of the largest enforcement actions intended to curb conspiratorial news content by a technology company to date.”

Meanwhile according to Bloomberg, Facebook removed the Alex Jones Channel Page, the Alex Jones Page, the Infowars Page and the Infowars Nightly News Page, which they said “have been unpublished for repeated violations of community standards and accumulating too many strikes.”

Facebook said it reviewed content “glorifying violence, which violates our graphic violence policy, and using dehumanizing language to describe people who are transgender, Muslims and immigrants, which violates our hate speech policies”

Apple’s decision is the latest in a string of technology companies which have taken action against Jones and Infowars, which he founded 19 years ago in 1999. Last month, YouTube and Facebook each pulled down four videos by Jones and Infowars. Facebook suspended Jones for 30 days, while YouTube hit the news outlet with a “strike.” Meanwhile, Spotify and the podcast app Stitcher followed suit, removing specific episodes of Jones’ show they deemed to contain hateful content.

Apple’s decision comes on the heels of liberal outrage directed at Jones and his network, most recently spearheaded by online activists Sleeping Giants – which has lobbied for tech platforms in general to cut all ties with Jones; condemning Apple last week for their reluctance.
