

FISA Court Scandal: No Hearings on Trump/ Page Surveillance Warrants. Three of the Warrants Were Issued After Trump Won Presidency.

Judicial Watch discovered that the Foreign Intelligence Surveillance Act (FISA) Court held no hearings on the surveillance warrant applications from the FBI targeting former Trump campaign adviser Carter Page. There were four warrants issued and three of them were executed after President Trump was elected. The fourth renewal of the warrant was signed under Mueller's reign, implicating him in using the fraudulent document. Legal analyst Gregg Jarrett explains that the FISA court is already one-sided because no one represents the privacy rights of targeted individuals. The opposition research and FISA warrants against Trump, in the name of national security and at the taxpayers' expense, reveal the corruption of the deep state and the system.
