

Senator Susan Collins Reports Leftists Threatened to Rape a Female Staffer and Sent 3,000 Coat Hangers to Influence Vote

Leftists are unhinged at the likelihood of Brett Kavanaugh being confirmed as the next Supreme Court justice. Planned Parenthood announced it will spend six-figures on ads to target swing Senators Susan Collins and Lisa Murkowski. Collins reports that a caller threatened to rape one of her young female staffers if she didn't vote against Kavanaugh. She has received more than 3,000 coat hangers in the mail as a crude protest that Justice Kavanaugh would restrict abortion services. -GEG

Democrats are outraged the Brett Kavanaugh will likely be sworn in as the next Supreme Court Justice later this month.

Planned Parenthood announced a six-figure ad buy to target swing vote senators Susan Collins (R-Maine) and Lisa Murkowski (R-AL).

And this week a far left activist threatened to rape a staffer for Senator Collins if she voted for Judge Kavanaugh.

Life News reported:

Sen. Susan Collin's office says it has received threats of rape and other violence from abortion activists who want her to vote against U.S. Supreme Court nominee Brett Kavanaugh.

The Maine Republican is a key swing vote in Kavanaugh's confirmation. Collins is pro-abortion, and she has not yet announced her decision about him.

Over the past few months, NARAL, Planned Parenthood and other pro-abortion groups have been targeting her with phone calls, political ads, fundraising for a pro-abortion Democrat opponent and a coat hanger campaign; but these attempts to influence may have the opposite effect.

Collins told reporters this week that her office has received a number of threatening phone calls and other messages, including one caller who threatened to rape one of her female staffers.

"In one case—and we are going to turn this over to the police, but unfortunately, of course, the person didn't leave a name or number—but they actually threatened to rape one of my young female staffers," she told the Wall Street Journal.
