

Democrat Senator Claire McCaskill Is Running a Deceptive Campaign, Pretending to Be a Moderate

Missouri: Senator Claire McCaskill, a Democrat, is seeking to retain her seat, and has been recorded in an undercover video that shows McCaskill and her staff admitting that she supports banning semi-automatic weapons, bump stocks, high-capacity magazines, and other far-left policies. Members of her staff acknowledged that McCaskill is hiding her leftist agenda before the midterm elections because she is trying to appeal to moderates, Republicans and pro-Trumpers. Meanwhile, she supports impeaching President Trump, abortion, DACA and the Dream Immigration Act. Her staff says she is against Trump's border security wall.

James O'Keefe's Project Veritas released a new undercover video Monday night showing Sen. Claire McCaskill (D-MO) and her staffers expressing support for radical gun control measures that they admit she can't state publicly.

The video shows McCaskill and her staff admitting that she supports banning semi-automatic weapons, bump stocks, high-capacity magazines, along with supporting other far-left policies.

Rob Mills, who works on McCaskill's campaign, says in the video that McCaskill can't be open about her policies because "she has a bunch of Republican voters" and "that could hurt her ability to get elected."

Nicolas Starost, who also works McCaskill's campaign, says in the video that former President Barack Obama isn't campaigning for McCaskill because she doesn't want to be cast as too far-left, even though she believes in the same policies that Obama does.
