

White House Press Conference Reveals Incredible Hostility of Reporters against President Trump

Following the elections, President Trump sparred with reporters during a press conference. Jim Acosta of CNN took the lead of pretending to ask questions of news value as an excuse for hurling insults against him. Notice how these reporters are not reporting on Trump but criticizing him. They are political activists with press passes. -GEG

Slow-motion recap of Jim Acosta brushing the intern away: