

The 'Justice Democrats' Are the Brains Behind Alexandria Ocasio-Cortez Who Was Recruited from a Pool of 10,000 Contestants

Alexandria Ocasio-Cortez (AOC) was recruited by the Justice Democrats, a group of radical leftist and socialists, that auditioned over 10,000 people to run as their candidate in Congress. The Justice Democrats intend to takeover the Democrat Party by 'primarying' out establishment Democrats and replacing them with hundreds of radical socialist puppets. The Justice Democrats, backers of the Green New Deal and open borders, intend to take over the Democrat Party, Congress and then the entire United States. Seven candidates endorsed by the Justice Democrats were elected to Congress in the 2018 interim elections. Two former Bernie Sanders strategists and Cenk Uygur of the Young Turks appear to be pulling the strings, but it is unclear who is funding the enterprise. Zack Exley, a key player in the Justice Democrats, was a fellow at George Soros' Open Borders Foundation.

Summary by JW Williams

Alexandria Ocasio-Cortez (AOC) was chosen by the Justice Democrats, a group of radical leftist and socialists, that auditioned over 10,000 people to run as their candidate in Congress. The Justice Democrats are employing a strategy of taking over the Democratic Party by 'primarying' establishment Democrats out of office by running hundreds of charismatic opponents against incumbent Democrats that they do not own. After taking control over the Democrat Party, they intend to control Congress and then the United States.

In the recent 2018 elections, the Justice Democrats endorsed 79 candidates in Democrat primaries, and 26 of them advanced to the general election and 7 won seats in Congress. Three of the new Congressmen, AOC, Rashida Tlaib and Ayanna Pressley were hand-picked by the Justice Democrats.

Republicans and conservatives have not paid much attention because the Democrats are fighting among themselves, but the GOP has failed to understand the threat of the Justice Democrats' strategy.

The Justice Democrats prefer to control many loyal members of Congress rather than becoming members of Congress themselves.

AOC's handler appears to be Saikat Chakrabarti, her chief of staff, who formerly worked on the Bernie Sanders campaign that generated a groundswell of support for socialism. He has recently faced allegations of misappropriating $1 million in campaign funds. Zach Exley, who organized much of AOC's campaign, is another former strategist from the Bernie campaign; he is an expert in Saul Alinsky methods of community organizing and is a radical open borders proponent who was a fellow at George Soros' Open Borders Foundation. Cenk Uygur of The Young Turks is the reported mastermind who hired Chakrabarti and Exley to build the Justice Democrats. Uygur is no longer officially affiliated with the Justice Democrats. It is unlikely that he was the chief of the Justice Democrats as he has a reported net worth of $5 million, yet the group appears to have deep-pocket funding.
