

The Government Says Your Kids Belong to the State, But this Attorney Says No They Don't!

written by GEG | May 29, 2019

Attorney Deborah Stevenson explains that overreaching government agencies want total control over your children so they can be molded into passive and obedient servants of those who hold state power. She knows the law and the Constitution and at the Expo she will explain how ordinary citizens can just say no.