

Did You Know the UN Is Indoctrinating Your Kids?

written by needtokn | May 25, 2019

Alex Newman is an expert on the decline and fall of education in America and the Western World and is an international lecturer on that topic. He will give a presentation at the Red Pill Expo that will show how education is becoming globalized, and the fight for control over what children are taught in school is no longer happening at school-boards or at the state legislative level – not even in Congress. The UN is being given complete authority over our educational system, and you are not going to like it when you find out what they have planned.

The reality of UN indoctrination of school children is the message to be delivered by author, Alex Newman, at the Red Pill Expo in Hartford, Connecticut, June 7–9. If you cannot attend, you can watch the event online after the video is delivered to the Archives of Red Pill University.
