The New York state law that allows the 725,000 illegal aliens to obtain driver's licenses when they are of age is supported by state Democrats and the big business lobby. Luis Sepúlveda, a Democrat state senator, said that the licenses will give them the ability to vote, as New York citizens need only a driver's license and to swear that they are eligible to vote to participate in elections. A recent poll revealed that a majority of all New York voters, 53%, oppose giving driver's licenses to illegal aliens.

A New York state law that allows illegal aliens to obtain driver's licenses is likely to also enable them to vote in elections, according to state officials.

The law, supported by state Democrats and the big business lobby, allows the 725,000 illegal aliens to be eligible for driver's licenses

when they are of age. State officials, even a Democrat state Senator, say the law will effectively allow illegal aliens to vote in elections.

“Theoretically, they could have the ability to vote,” Democrat state Sen. Luis Sepúlveda (D) said, according to the New York Post.

In New York, U.S. citizens only need a driver’s license to register to vote and though applicants are required to swear that they are eligible to vote, state election officials told the Post that “it’s basically an honor system.”

State Senate Minority Leader John Flanagan (R) told the Post:

[A] major concern is that many states, including New York, use their DMVs to enroll voters. Since New York does not have voter-identification laws like the majority of other states do, this bill increases the potential for voter fraud. [Emphasis added]

This means that New York will soon have the most radical, open-ended law in the entire nation. [Emphasis added]

In California, where illegal aliens are allowed to obtain driver’s licenses as well, voter fraud has become common across the state. Last year, the state's Department of Motor Vehicles (DMV) admitted that it had registered 1,500 non-eligible voters, including noncitizens, over the course of just six months.

Government Accountability Institute (GAI) research director Eric Eggers told Breitbart News last year that California's laws giving driver's licenses to illegal aliens and its latest law known as "ballot harvesting" – which allows political operatives to collect voters' ballots and deliver them to polling stations – is potentially contributing to mass voter fraud across the state.
