

Woman Filmed in Walmart Licking Ice Cream in Viral Video Faces Up to 20 Years in Prison – and Starts New Trend

written by GEG | July 4, 2019

Last week, a woman in the city of Lufkin, Texas, was filmed in a branch of Walmart opening an ice cream tub, licking it and then placing it back in the freezer. Police said they have identified the woman via surveillance camera footage and she now faces a second-degree felony charge of tampering with a consumer product, with a punishment of up to 20 years in jail. Licking or partially consuming food and then replacing the container is becoming a new trend with young people.

A new trend where people tamper with food, licking it or half consuming it before putting it back in the container, is going viral.

Yes, really.

Last week, a woman in the city of Lufkin, eastern Texas, was filmed in a branch of Walmart opening an ice cream tub, licking it and then placing it back in the freezer.

What kinda psychopathic behavior is this?! pic.twitter.com/T8AIdGpmuS

– Optimus Primal (@BlindDensetsu) June 29, 2019

Police said they had identified the woman via surveillance camera footage and she now faces a second-degree felony charge of tampering with a consumer product, with a punishment of up to 20 years in jail.

Another clip shows what appears to be a transgender individual taking a swig of mouthwash before spitting it back in the bottle and walking away.

Honestly who is raising these monsters pic.twitter.com/DDpZBFqMNG

– Jessica Fletcher (@heckyessica) July 3, 2019

A third person who goes by the name ‘Shawn Mendes’ on Twitter had his friend film him scooping out a chunk of ice cream with his hand before putting it back in the freezer.

I love ice cream pic.twitter.com/CWA1aNBmJU

– LARZ (@GAYSHAWNMENDES) July 3, 2019

Mendes subsequently posted a video of an apparent visit he received from a police officer.

WHICH ONE OF Y’ALL- pic.twitter.com/11RBoVBwE1

– LARZ (@GAYSHAWNMENDES) July 3, 2019

Read full article here...