

Trump Requested Ukraine Investigate Shady Payments Made to Joe Biden's Son. The Media Spins the Story and Calls for Impeachment of Trump

A 'whistleblower' claims Trump called upon Ukraine to investigate payments made to Joe Biden's son, Hunter. Joe Biden, now the Democratic presidential frontrunner for 2020, bragged about pressuring Ukraine to fire its top prosecutor, who at that time was leading a corruption investigation into a natural gas company, Barisma, that reportedly paid Biden's son, Hunter, $50,000 per month. The former vice president was the point man for US policy with Ukraine in 2016, and critics are suspicious that Hunter received the money in a pay-for-play scheme. Hunter also received over one billion dollars from China while his father was in charge of policy for the Asian country. While the law requires a $1,500 political donation to be publicly disclosed, billions can flow to family members with no disclosure required- which is no accident. Biden denies the charges.

Author Peter Schweizer on Friday night addressed the questions surrounding Hunter Biden's involvement with a Ukrainian natural gas company while his father, former Vice President Joe Biden, oversaw America's Ukraine policy.

"The underlying story here involves Hunter Biden going around the world really collecting large payments from foreign governments and foreign oligarchs in the case of Ukraine," Schweizer, the author of "Secret Empires," said on Fox News' "The Ingraham Angle."

The issue involving the Bidens resurfaced Friday after The Wall Street Journal reported that, in a July phone call, Trump repeatedly asked Ukrainian President Volodymyr Zelensky to work with Giuliani on a probe into Hunter Biden's business activities in Ukraine.

Schweizer implied Hunter Biden's credentials didn't match with the position he held, and that the situation looked suspicious.
