California’s New ‘Red Flag’ Gun Law So Extreme Even ACLU Calls it “Significant Threat To Civil Liberties”

written by GEG | October 15, 2019

California adopted a controversial ‘red flag’ gun-confiscation law that expands an existing law that allows law-enforcement and family members to initiate a process to temporarily confiscate citizens’ firearms. The new law adds co-workers, employers, and teachers to the list.