

Martial Law? Massive Number of Tanks Transported By Trains Across California

written by GEG | March 30, 2020

Videos of armored military vehicles being transported by train through Southern California concerned people after the governor called on the National Guard in response to the coronavirus. Officials claimed it was only routine movement and that the National Guard has not been officially mobilized.