

The Hidden Agenda behind COVID-19 Lockdown – A Discourse by David Icke

written by GEG | March 25, 2020

Author David Icke reminds us that the coronavirus is a serious threat only to the elderly and those with preexisting health conditions or compromised immune systems. He argues that lockdowns are a monstrous over reaction. He suggests that those who are most vulnerable should be given medical care and protection against infection, but the rest of the population should not be prohibited from working, which already has sent the economies of entire countries into a tailspin. This will lead to far more poverty, suffering, and death than the coronavirus. Virus hysteria is being created for an excuse to redesign the world based on a totalitarian model. -GEG
