

Gov. Newsom Predicted 25-Million Covid-19 Cases in California – But Number Today = 15,247

written by S3 | April 7, 2020

As of Monday morning, California had 15,247 COVID-19 infections and 350 deaths – OUT OF 40 MILLION PEOPLE! California is one of the largest economies in the world, yet the entire state has been effectively crippled because 0.0004% of the population has infections of some sort.
