

Congressman called 'Most Hated Man in Washington' Stands Alone Against Bailout

written by GEG | April 1, 2020

Thomas Massie explains that the Coronavirus stimulus bill is the largest wealth transfer in human history and would make Roman emperors blush. $6-trillion divided by US population means each family will pay $60,000. $1,200 given back to taxpayers is "cheese" in the trap. Most of the money will go to banks and large corporations with political influence. Massie says the House avoided a recorded vote because they fear being booted out of office in future elections if it could be proved they voted for the bill. This is a long interview but is packed with inside glimpses of how corrupt Congress has become. -GEG
