

US Corporations Pledge $1.7 Billion to Black Lives Matter

Corporations have pledged more than $1.7-billion supposedly for racial and social-justice causes amid worldwide protests over the death of George Floyd. In some cases, the companies have not yet disclosed how the money will be spent. The heavy hitters include Bank of America donating $1-billion and Nike, Sony Music, Walmart, and Warner Music group all donating $100-million each. {Don't forget that this money comes from our patronage of these companies.] -GEG

Corporations have pledged more than $1.7 billion for racial and social justice causes amid worldwide protests over the death of George Floyd, an African-American man who died after a Minneapolis police officer pressed a knee into his neck.

Companies in the United States and across the globe have announced donations to nonprofit organizations and pledged money for internal company programs. In some cases, the companies have not yet disclosed how the money will be spent.

A Federal Court Case to End Water Fluoridation is

Underway – But No Media Coverage

Dr. Paul Connet of the Fluoride Action Network is suing the EPA over adding toxic fluoride to the drinking water of 200-million Americans and says that it is a deliberate addition of a substance that damages the brain. Children and the fetuses in pregnant women are especially susceptible to brain damage. Due to the COVID lockdown, the case is being litigated remotely on Zoom, and people can tune in and watch it this week. Dr. Connet's evidence includes an analysis that found a strong relationship between high levels of fluoride and lower IQ and this effect will occur from drinking only one glass of fluoride-treated water per day. The toxic effects of fluoride are similar to lead. The trial is open to the public to watch on the Internet. [See link below.] -GEG

The US Treasury Will “Pump”

Another $1-Trillion Into Economy This Month

Treasury Secretary Steve Mnuchin said last week declared that another $1-trillion will be created out of government debt and pumped into the economy. He also said that there now are discussions with Congress about how much more money will be created to bail out bankrupt states. [The more that individuals, corporations, institutions, and states become dependent on federal money, the more they all become subservient to the hand that feeds them. At the end of this road lies one, megalithic federal government as the supreme master of everything.] - GEG

With stocks tumbling, it was only a matter of time before Trump trotter out the “plunge protectors”, and sure enough just minutes after cash reopen, Steve Mnuchin dialed into CNBC, where he said that “we can’t shut down the economy again” amid growing fears of a second virus wave, and just to get the Robin hood traders extra pumped, the Treasury Secretary said that another $1 trillion will be pumped into the market economy.

- MNUCHIN SAID ‘WE CAN’T SHUT DOWN THE ECONOMY AGAIN’
- MNUCHIN ‘QUITE OPTIMISTIC’ IN MEDICAL PROGRESS THAT HAS

BEEN MADE ON COVID-19

- MNUCHIN SAYS FURTHER AID TO STATES WILL BE SUBJECT TO DISCUSSION WITH CONGRESS

Unfortunately for the stock market president, unlike previous Mnuchin appearances, this time the market was largely oblivious to his message, and was trading near the worst levels of the session, just around 3,100.
