

New Study of 10-Million Chinese Debunks Concept of COVID Transmission

written by GEG | December 29, 2020

The false narrative of asymptomatic transmission has been the justification for political lockdowns all across the world. The CDC falsely advanced claims that asymptomatic people “are estimated to account for more than 50 percent of transmissions.” However, there is no scientific data to corroborate this position.