

France: Social Distancing 'Dog Collars' Deployed for Factory Workers

written by GEG | January 19, 2021

A social distancing device emits a loud sound if people are too close to each other. China is already linking coronavirus rules to its onerous social credit score system, so the idea that people could be publicly shamed or punished for getting too close to others is a very real possibility.

Watch Out for the Internet of Body (IoB): How Implantable Devices Can Connect Your Body to the Internet

written by GEG | January 19, 2021

Big Tech is moving from wearable monitoring devices to devices embedded within our bodies. IoB will likely be marketed as improving lives and health care. However, the negative consequences, as discussed in this article, far outweigh the benefits.

RNA ‘Vaccines’ Are GMO Implants, Not Vaccines

written by GEG | January 19, 2021

Martin says Moderna describes its product not as a vaccine, but as “gene-therapy technology” in SEC filings. Neither Moderna or Pfizer make any claims about their products creating immunity or preventing transmission. Moderna’s own clinical study says it is “impractical to measure infection.”
