

UK: Health Authorities Announce Not a Single Case of Flu Detected This Year

written by GEG | March 1, 2021

Health authorities in England have announced that not a single case of influenza, out of 685,243 tested, has been detected this year. In spite of the official narrative, many health experts have said that this is because influenza cases are being falsely counted as COVID cases.