

Chicago Mayor Lightfoot Sued by Judicial Watch for Denying Reporter Interview for Being White

written by GEG | May 30, 2021

Chicago Mayor Lori Lightfoot was sued by Judicial Watch on behalf of The Daily Caller after she denied reporter Thomas Catenacci an interview because he was white. Lightfoot declared she will openly discriminate against white reporters and will only allow “black and brown” reporters one-on-one interviews. The lawsuit alleges Lightfoot did not respond to reporter Thomas Catenacci’s multiple requests for interviews and allegedly violated his equal protection rights under the Fourteenth Amendment, as well as his First Amendment rights.

Chicago Mayor Lori Lightfoot was sued on Thursday by Judicial Watch on behalf of The Daily Caller after she denied reporter Thomas Catenacci an interview because he was white.

Lightfoot announced her racist policy last week. She proudly declared she will openly discriminate against white reporters to only allow “black and brown” reporters interviews.

She later defended her policy.

FOX News reported:

Conservative watchdog Judicial Watch has sued Chicago Mayor Lori Lightfoot, D., on behalf of the Daily Caller News Foundation, the group announced Thursday, over her policy of granting interviews to only non-White reporters.

The lawsuit, filed in the United States District Court for the Northern District of Illinois, Eastern Division, alleges Lightfoot violated reporter Thomas Catenacci’s equal protection rights under the Fourteenth Amendment when she didn’t respond to multiple requests for interviews, as well as his First Amendment rights.

Lightfoot made waves earlier this month when she announced she would only grant one-on-one interviews to Black and Brown reporters upon the two-year anniversary of her taking office, scolding the Chicago media for its “overwhelming Whiteness.”
