

Did Amazon's 'White Fragility' Training Influence Worker to Assault White Woman For Her 'White Privilege'?

written by GEG | June 9, 2021

California: Itzel Ramirez, a delivery driver for Amazon, was filmed assaulting a 67-year old woman who complained about her package that had been delayed. Ramirez, 21, told the woman to "check her white privilege" and the older woman told the driver that she didn't "need to be a bitch about it," and turned to walk away before she was attacked. Last year, Amazon hired Robin DiAngelo to teach employees about "white privilege" and "white fragility" that promotes divisiveness and hostility. Ramirez is reportedly claiming she acted in "self-defense."