

Pfizer's Confidential Government Contract Reveals Jaw-Dropping Terms

Pfizer's contract is biased in the company's favor as purchasing countries agree to give the company full immunity. If the purchasing country waives or fails to enforce any right for Pfizer's immunity, a court in New York has the capacity to hold international assets of a country if the country failed the contract.