

Indiana University Students ask Supreme Court to Block COVID Vaccine Mandate

Students who don't comply have been threatened with having their registration canceled and workers who refuse will lose their jobs. The mandate does contain exemptions for religious or medical reasons, but exempt students must be tested twice a week for COVID-19.