

Director of the US Congressional Task Force to Protect the Power Grid Explains Why it is Doomed

written by GEG | October 12, 2021

A US electromagnetic task force warned that nine out of ten Americans could die from starvation, disease and societal collapse from destruction of our electrical system. But there are ways to protect the grid and its infrastructure, including communications, transportation, business, finance, and food and water. Peter Pry is Director of the US Congressional Task Force to protect the power grid from EMP, cyber warfare, physical sabotage and solar flares and will be speaking at the Red Pill Expo to be held in Lafayette, Louisiana on November 6-7. The list of speakers, and tickets to attend this event or to live-stream it can be found at: <https://redpillexpo.org/> -GEG
