

Australian Army Transfers COVID-Positive Cases and their Contacts To Quarantine Camps

written by GEG | November 23, 2021

The Australian army has begun forcibly removing residents in the Northern Territories to the Howard Springs quarantine camp after nine new Covid-19 cases were identified following a “blitz” of tests that we have reported are deeply flawed. The move comes after hard lockdowns confined people to their homes. Authorities reported that 38 contacts were found and transported to the camp and more contacts are expected to be discovered. A large percentage of indigenous people live in the Northern Territories, and many are not vaccinated. An estimated 18% of indigenous people live in overcrowded dwellings; homes are more crowded in remote areas.

The Australian army has begun forcibly removing residents in the Northern Territories to the Howard Springs quarantine camp located in Darwin, after nine new Covid-19 cases were identified in the community of Binjari. The move comes after hard lockdowns were instituted in the communities of both Binjari and nearby Rockhole on Saturday night.

“Residents of Binjari and Rockhole no longer have the five reasons to leave their homes,” said Northern Territory chief minister, Michael Gunner, referring to the country’s five allowable reasons to avoid lockdown (buying food and supplies, exercising for up to two hours, care or caregiving, work or education if it can’t be done from home, and to get vaccinated at the nearest possible location).

“They can only leave for medical treatment, in an emergency, or as required by law.”

“It’s highly likely that more residents will be transferred to Howard Springs today, either as positive cases or close contacts,” he continued, adding “We have already identified 38 close contacts from Binjari but that number will go up. Those 38 are being transferred now.”

“I contacted the Prime Minister last night. We are grateful for the support of about 20 ADF personnel, as well as army trucks to assist with the transfer of positive cases and close contacts – and to support the communities.

We are doing an assessment today of what extra resources we might need from the Feds, and the Prime Minister is ready to help further – I thank him for that.”

June Mills, an indigenous woman who is an elder, made a video imploring other Aborigines to contact her and upload videos because she heard stories that Aborigines are being taken to a quarantine camp and forcefully held down and vaccinated. She said that she wants to hear from her own people because she does not trust Michael Gunnar, the chief minister of the Northern Territories, or the Army. She said they are committing genocide and she encouraged Aborigines to rise up against the government.
