

Australia Admits Widespread Severe Injuries From COVID Jab, Offers Compensation to Victims

written by GEG | January 2, 2022

As many as 79,000 people have suffered from severe side effects from the COVID jab, and the government is prepared to dole out over $600,000 in compensation for some victims who have been severely injured.