

Democrats Hide HR1 In NASA Bill To Sneak Through Radical 'Election Takeover' Fraud

written by GEG | January 18, 2022

Democrats are scheming to pass the John Lewis Voting Rights Act, HR1, combined with the Freedom to Vote Act, HR4, for election reform by tucking them into previously passed legislation extending NASA's authority to lease its facilities. But the bills have nothing to do with NASA and are essentially a "mechanism to strip states rights to enforce voter ID laws," according to Republican Representative Kat Cammack of Florida. She said the Democrats' goal is to remove requirements to show a voter ID to register to vote, or to actually vote.

The Democrats haven't given up on their quest to completely change how elections are run in America.

Since Sens. Joe Manchin (D-W.V.) and Kyrsten Sinema (D-Ariz.) indicated they wouldn't support removing the filibuster to pass the John Lewis Voting Rights Act, the Democrats have schemed to sneakily tuck most of the bill into separate legislation for NASA.

The NASA bill, called NASA Enhanced Use Leasing Extension Act of 2021, seeks to "further amend a bill that merges the John Lewis Voting Rights Act and the Freedom to Vote Act into previously passed legislation extending NASA's authority to lease its facilities."

Rep. Kat Cammack (R-Fla.) sounded the alarm on Monday after voting against the NASA bill, warning that the disguised election reform bill will now head to the Senate for a final vote.

“The Democrats just voted to take over our elections to basically ensure that they have control of our elections forevermore,” Cammack said.
