

Biden in Brussels: “Food Shortages Are Gonna be Real”. Brace for Food Rationing.

written by GEG | March 25, 2022

During a press conference in Brussels, Belgium amid meetings with NATO members, President Joe Biden warned of food shortages as a result of Putin invading Ukraine. He seemed to have misspoken when he said, “We talked about how we can increase and disseminate more rapidly food shortages.”

Ice Age Farmer explains that green climate policies are poised to create intentional food shortages and how to survive during a famine.

The food crisis is escalating: more countries are halting exports, but even as the EU converges a food crisis meeting, they refuse to relax restrictions on farmers. Similarly, the US is not waiving biofuel mandates even as grain prices explode. Christian explains that this crisis is needed to advance the agenda, and reiterates the priorities for your victory garden to insulate your family and community from this worldwide food crisis. Start growing today.
