

HSBC Suspends Head Of Responsible Investing Over 'Nut Job' Climate-Alarmist Comments

written by GEG | May 25, 2022

Stuart Kirk, the global head of responsible investing at HSBC Asset Management, said that “there is always some nut job telling me about the end of the world.” Although Kirk agreed with the phony ‘science’, he called out central bankers and the UN for exaggerating the financial risks of climate change.