

David Martin Explains the Criminal Prosecution of Gain-of-Function Research for COVID-19

David Martin said that he is involved in prosecuting the government of Canada and the US for collaborating on gain-of-function (GOF) research, which is medical research that involves mutating a pathogen to enhance its transmission and lethality in humans, when there was a moratorium on this research.