

Australian Couple Threatened with 12 Months in Prison for Refusing Covid Test

written by GEG | August 9, 2021

Samuel and Deanna traveled to Queensland last winter and refused to get PCR tests when they returned home to Perth. Despite a long quarantine of 24 days without any symptoms, authorities threatened with 12 months in jail and/ or a $50,000 fine for refusing the test.